

cox graae + spack architects

Reed School / Westover Library

Arlington, VA

cox graae + spack architects designed the Reed School / Westover Library complex on behalf of both Arlington Public Schools and Arlington County Government. Public input led to a design solution for the renovation and expansion of the historic Reed School to house both public school functions and a local library branch. The new Westover Library branch replaces and expands the old library within the historic ca. 1938 Reed School building. Additions to the historic school building house several programs for Arlington Public Schools including a preschool program, an integration preschool for children with autism, and a teen parenting program.

Services: Adaptive Reuse, Historic Preservation Completion: 2009
Area: 60,000 gsf
LEED: LEED Gold Certified